

Graph Neural Network

Lecture 3

1 Introduction to GCNs

- Graph Convolutional Networks (GCNs) are a type of GNNs.
- The most prevalent and broadly applied GNN model.
- Can leverage both the features and locality of a node to make predictions.
- Providing an effective way to handle graph-structured data.